

The Women and Health Initiative
is delighted to welcome

Jennifer Leason

“ The Canadian Maternity
Experiences Survey: What Aboriginal Women Say”

Tuesday
March 25, 2015
12:30 – 1:30pm
FXB G-11

Jennifer Leason, PhD Candidate at the University of British Columbia (Okanagan) is the recipient of a 3-year Canadian Institute of Health Research (CIHR): Institute of Aboriginal Peoples Health doctoral research award. Jennifer's PhD in Interdisciplinary Graduate Studies utilizes Saulteaux epistemology of "gwayooshgawin" (balance) that incorporates public health (social determinants of health theory) with medical anthropology and Indigenous/women's studies to examine the complex and interrelated determinants of Aboriginal women's maternal and reproductive health in Canada.

All are welcome to attend.

 Women and Health Initiative
Harvard School of Public Health

www.womenandhealthinitiative.org | 651 Huntington Avenue, 7th Floor; Boston, MA 02115